BULLDOGS BEAT GREENFIELD 33-0

The fighting Fulton Bulldogs made it two in a row Friday night by beating the Greenfield Yellowjackets 33 to 0.

The Fulton team showed the same spirit and drive which it showed a week ago. Fulton received the opening kickoff and in eleven plays had their first marker. Dan Collins carried the ball over the last white stripe and Billy Browning kicked the extra point. Two more touchdowns were added in the second quarter, one by Browning and one by Buckingham. The Bulldogs left the field with a 20 to 0 lead at the half time.

Fulton dominated the play through out the whole game. Two touchdowns were scored in the second half. Fullback Dawson Huddleston drove over from the ten yard line.

The defense for Fulton was in pretty good condition and Greenfield couldn't get started until late in the last quarter.

Tonight (Friday) Fulton will play the Marion Blue Terrors.

Fulton County May Get Full Time Health Unit

County Has Not Had Full Time Unit Since 1944; State In Critical Need For Health Units, Doctors, Nurses

If a bill introduced in Washington and co-sponsored by Kentucky Senators Virgil Chapman and Garrett L. Whithers is made into law, Fulton county may be one of the hundreds of counties in the United States that will receive assistance in the development and maintenance of a local public health unit.

Enactment of the bill, its sponsors maintain, would result ultimately in a full-time health unit in every county in the United States. In Kentucky there are only 25 counties who maintain full time public health units.

Testimony before the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, which reported the bill, indicated that there are approximately 1,400 counties in the United States, having about 40,000,000 people to whom full-time local health service is not available. In Fulton County there has not been a full time public health unit since 1944.

Organizations which have endorsed the bill include the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, the American Medical Association, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the American Farm Bureau Federation, the Federation of Women's Clubs, the Young Men's Christian Association International Council and others.

A&P Food Co. in Forceful Ad Message to City Food Buyers

Another in a series of advertisements by the great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company is appearing in today's News setting forth the company's position in the suit filed by anti-trust lawyers to force the company to dispose of many of its stores and manufacturing facilities. The company asked its millions of customers last week, through the newspapers, if they (the consumers) wished to have A & P put out of business. This week the company asks "Why do they Want to Put A & P out of Business?"

For the past 90 years the nation-wide chain has stepped up the efficiency of its operations to bring forth one of the most forceful, good-will, buying outlets in the country. The anti-trust lawyers, in their suit claim that companies like A & P are forcing little merchants out-of-business, yet here in Fulton, in spite of the charges made by the lawyers, independent grocers are enjoying the same patronage and good business as the chain proportionately.

The company, in stating its position has revealed forceful and interesting statistics in their own behalf. In 1933, the A & P Company had 11.6 per cent of the nation's food business. Now, according to the lawyers that percentage has decreased to 6.4 per cent, indicating that their modern methods of selling groceries has stepped up the competitive spirit and increased the selling power of the smaller grocery outlets.

According to the company, the offices of the A & P Tea Company have been deluged with phone calls and letters of sympathy with the company in holding to its policy of large scale operations on a small profit margin, with the ultimate result in lower prices for the consumer, whatever their preference in grocery buying.

The company contends that in destroying the operations of A & P, that the result would be higher food prices to the consumer. It is a thought-provoking statement and one that deserves the consideration of the food-buying public.

Read today's message from A & P and let the company here, and the folks at the home office in Louisville know your sentiments.

The Social Robot

The world's fastest robot brain, a gigantic calculating machine known as the selective-sequence calculator has been developed by the International Business Machines Corporation. The machine multiplies two fourteen-digit numbers in a fiftieth of a second, and has a "memory" capacity of nearly 500,000 digits.

So marvelous are the possibilities of these machines—or the art of "cybernetics" which governs them—that imagination runs into nightmares. Speculative minds have conceived the notion of an electronic or atomic device which could duplicate pretty nearly any human function, and be used to dominate not only our private but even our social lives. The machine would take over many of the functions of government. It would select personnel for employment, hire and fire, conduct health examinations, distribute welfare benefits and elaborate our defense program. The speculations are fantastic, but sometimes fantastic speculations give rise to more serious reflection.

Such reflection took place at the tenth annual meeting of the Conference on Science, Philosophy and Religion, September 6-9, at Columbia University. To those who were disquieted over the possibility of a mechanically governed society, the president of the conference showed that the most marvelous device your imagination can think up remains always a mere instrument of man. If such an electronic horror is lurking around the corner, it is still merely a man-made and man-controlled instrument. The real nightmare is what may take place within the mind and soul of man himself when he loses his moral sense and no longer recognizes a Supreme Being to whom human creatures are accountable for all their actions.

Lincoln Reis, professor of philosophy at Bard College, pointed out to the members of the conference wherein lay the actual threat to freedom and democracy today. It is the "primacy of the collective social," which forms a "closed system . . . making for a most rigid and exclusive orthodoxy in which the processes consequent upon a division of labor have become the key terms in a system of man." In this system, the functions which individuals perform in and for society are alone important. Their individual personalities cease to have any importance at all. Remark—ed Dr. Reis:

If we are prepared to accept the first step in this system, then let us face the consequences: that if the individual is to be the plastic particle . . . there can be ultimately no real force or sense to either a general bill of rights, constitution, or even, alas, the most minor legal safeguards.

One of the most outstanding fruits of the conference's many meetings has been the growth of understanding that human society cannot be abandoned to impersonal forces. What Reis calls "the collective social" can never be allowed to become man's master.

The study of social techniques, so marvelously developed by the social experts, leads infallibly to the problem of social motivation. Who is to control these techniques? For what ultimate purpose are they to be used? What motive lies behind all this brilliant elaboration of social technology which resembles a machine in the complexity and interaction of its many parts?

Each year, at the meetings of the conference, the answer to this question has been given with increasing clarity. Man must look to God, to His unchanging law and His changeless love, for society's final motivation. The fascinating wonders of the electronic machine simply point to our need to re-emphasize, both in clear exposition addressed to modern minds and in convincing programs of social action addressed to contemporary needs, that God's love and God's law must be the ultimate guide to an ordered human society. If we fail in this, we may find that a system of social engineering, more formidable than any electronic machine, has taken us in charge.

Christmas Spirit For Fulton

With October near and a scant three months available until Christmas, now is the time for the merchants and interested citizens of Fulton to get together and see just what can be done about Christmas decorations for the city streets.

This is not just a function of the Chamber of Commerce, since many firms do not belong to that organization, but the C of C, we feel sure, will spearhead a drive to get the job done . . . if the merchants, who are the chief benefactors, will pitch in and contribute their bit.

Let us not wait until December 10 and see what our aggressive neighbors have planned and erected in their communities; let's organize, plan and act now, so that come December Fulton will be as prettily decked out as could be.

Tidbits of Kentucky Folk-Lore

Humanity is pretty used to certain ailments, but every generation gives its own name to many of these. Our ancestors, apparently, suffered very much as we do, with actual diseases and equally as much with imagined diseases. The imagined ones seem to lose their names more often than the "standard" diseases: pneumonia has been pneumonia a long time; so has measles. But what, pray, would be the nature of the "megrimms," or the "vapors," for example?

When our ancestors had the vapors or the megrimms, they seemed as bad off as any of us with diseases that only sulfa drugs or penicillin can reach. There were several suggested remedies, most of which were plain quackery. This strange disease was not especially contagious, but it showed up on all sorts of occasions. The sufferer felt that everything in the universe had gone wrong, that he was the victim of everything that can befall wretched man. He might cry, he might swear, he might do both and much more. Sometimes the symptoms manifested thus actually relieved the disease, and the sufferer gradually got well, or nearly so, for it was believed that such diseases would be likely to return. Learned men wrote learned articles on how to make life endurable for such victims, but I fear little was accomplished. In my earlier reading I wondered at these strange names and assumed that they referred to some ache or pain that modern man knows nothing about. Imagine my surprise when I learned that these ancestors of ours had merely had a spell of despondency, had developed a dark-brown taste in their mouths, and had begun to doubt whether there was any way out of the tangle called life.

Now, in Fidelity, people had the vapors or the megrimms, but we called the disease the "all-overs." Sometimes a big, strong man got pretty weak and shaky with brooding over his troubles and probably believed that he would not survive. Sometimes rejected love was at the bottom of the disease; sometimes it was merely a bad case of disillusionment or a sudden recognizing of the fact that life is not all roses. Women could better afford such spells than men; tears often melted the iron-fetters of the disease and left the sufferer free to try another whack at life. Men were not supposed to swear at Fidelity; tears in men's eyes were either a sign of weakness or a very moving evidence of great agony that even the hard-hearted respected. Some of our neighbors called this same sad state of things the "jim-jams: colored folks often called it the "down-yonders." Call it whatever you will, it seems as real as most of the diseases that are listed as respectable or even dangerous.

Some thirty or more years ago it became fashionable to call this same affection the "heebie-jeebies." That name sounds strange, at least, almost as strange as some of the newer drugs. Children of people who had grown up subject to the "all-overs" developed the "heebie-jeebies" probably thinking that the dumb parents would never know the actual symptoms of such a strange disease. But Pa and Ma knew the signs and went on calling the trouble by its older name, and probably still do. But Pa and Ma had outlived the time when any actual medicine was prescribed. And now the psychiatrist has arrived, with advice for all sorts of strange ills; he thrives on people who had the all-overs, the down-yonders, and jim-jams, or the heebie-jeebies. Most people have this age-old disease, anyway, and most people dearly love to take treatments of some sort. Hence the consulting psychiatrist gets plenty of trade, and the sufferers often imagine themselves suffering from a modern malady, never even suspected before the days of modern psychology.

Fulton High

—By PATSY GREEN

Here I am again to tell you some more about dear Ole F.H.S. I asked around school if the student body wouldn't like to know more about their teachers and most of them said yes. I know that the public would be interested and so I will have an interview with at least two of them each week until I have run out of teachers and then I will introduce the Seniors.

For this week we will take up the life of Mr. W. L. Holland, Superintendent and Mr. Hubert Jaco, Principal.

Mr. Holland was born in Franklin, Ky. His first eight school years were spent in Oak Grove Grade School in Simpson County, then he went to high school for four years in Franklin, where he lettered in four sports: basketball, football, baseball and track. From there he went to Centre College in Danville, Ky. He played four years of baseball and was captain of the team in his Senior year; he played with the scrubs in basketball. He played professional ball for three years, class D. He taught coaching in Cherokee, Ala., two years, then came to South Fulton as coach and assistant principal for three years. From 1929-1945 he was the principal of F.H.S. and since 1945 he has been the Superintendent. His hobbies are fishing and hunting. His favorite sports are basketball, football, and baseball. He married Miss Ann Reed in 1929 and they have one son, Read, who is attending the University of Kentucky. Mr. Holland is the President of the West Kentucky High School Athletic Association, President of the First District Education Association, a past President of the Lions Club, a past Superintendent of the Methodist Sunday School, a Mason and an Elk.

Mr. Jaco was born in a town between Gilbertsville and Calvert City. He attended grade school in Marshall county. He was in the Gilbertsville school his first two high school years in Calvert City school for his Junior year and then back to Gilbertsville for his Senior year. His favorite sport, then as well as now is basketball. He played high school basketball and was captain of the team. He attended Murray where he got his B.S. degree and his M.A. degree. He has had two summers work at U.K. on his Doctors Degree. He majored in social science and minored in education and math. He has taught in the rural schools of Marshall county, high school in Calvert City and Birmingham, and then was principal in Calvert City. He then went to Freedonia as principal for two years and then he came to Fulton. This is his third year here and his sixth year as principal. He married Miss Mildred Metcalfe in 1937. They have four children.

SENIOR GOSSIP

Could anybody tell me who that little brunette is from Clinton that B. G. has been stepping out with lately? To give you a little hint her initials are R.G.W.

I have decided that T. S. isn't going to be a bachelor all his life because I have noticed that he is spending quite a bit of time with B. B. a Junior at Fulton High.

A. P.'s car still automatically heads for the Hickman highway when she's driving. But of course it always turns left at "Y" so she can see G.R.P.

Anytime you want to hear the song "I've Been Working on the Railroad," just stay around J. N. for a while. It seems to be her theme song.

The Martin skating rink seems to be getting a lot of visits by D.T., L.W., B.S.W., B.W., B.S.H., and F. B. Tell me girls is it the skating or the people who go skating over there that you are interested in?

Cissy Murphy and Nelle Speight, Senior cheerleaders, are doing a swell job of representing the Senior class. Keep it up girls, we are really proud of you.

Wonder why L.M. is so interested in football these days? Could it be J.C.?

Why is C.P. so interested in the railroad? Could it be G.T.S. J.N. seems to be doing all right for her self these days. What do you say J.N.?

JUNIOR NEWS

We can't seem to keep both our Billys in the football game. First Billy Browning was out with a broken arm and now Billy McCollum is out with a sprained ankle. We're sorry, Billy. (McCollum, that is). We'll depend on Dan, Bobby, Billy, Alec, Charles and Bobby Sam to stay in there. Now for a little of that boy and girl stuff. Do we see a spark

Fultonians in String Ensemble

between B.B. and T. S. or is it that cutie B.P.

B. J. T. and D. L. P. seem to be back on a steady beam. Good luck.

That sailor in San Diego seems to be torn between L. S. and K.J. B.L.M. still has an eye on S. Fulton or should we say C. D.

Cayce has a certain charm. Right R. A.?

Hey boys! How about giving the new Junior girl, R. H. a try? Or have you already?

What has Martin got that Fulton hasn't, S.B.? Is it James Young?

Tommy Brown has returned from Detroit, which makes B. O. happy.

FRESHMAN NEWS

The whole Freshman class was very proud of the football team last Friday night. We were especially proud of two of the Freshman players, Bobby Buckingham and Dawson Huddleston. They both made touchdowns.

Three cheers for F. V. who represented the Freshman at the football game last Friday. Good work, Virginia.

Who said a football player couldn't be smart? Well, the Freshman have one because Dawson Huddleston is doing good in Latin.

E. L. S. is certainly interested in South Fulton. Who could it be, I wonder.

Seems like P. O. has a new flame. Come on and tell us about it.

F. G. is looking around again. Make up your mind. Will it be J.P., B.P., J.B., or T.S. again.

C.S. seems to have a crush on someone in our class. Does anyone know who?

Chestnut Glade

CHESTNUT GLADE SCHOOL NEWS

We are glad school has started and we have two new teachers, Mrs. Flowers and Mr. Ray Fleming. We are sorry that Mrs. Milam and Mr. Drace could not be with us this year.

We will have Field Day October 7. There will be prizes given to the fastest runner, best writer, best artist and many others. Plate lunches and drinks will be served. Entries must be in by 10 o'clock and not removed until 4 o'clock or after. Everyone is invited and Chestnut Glade will play Welch at 8 o'clock. Come out and help us win the game.

Betty Lou Jackson went home with Glenda Henderson Monday night.

Shirley Mason had a happy birthday Sept. 5.

We are proud of Jerry Mac Tegetoff and Ted Reams. They went to the 4-H Club Fair and won $2 each as a prize.

We are happy to have all of our sixth grade back with us. Some were absent a few days digging potatoes.

Some of the sixth grade girls, namely, Nancy Gore, Louise Melton, Anna Jean Usrey and Katherine Morrison enjoyed a birthday party Wednesday night with Patricia Jones celebrating her eleventh birthday. She received many nice gifts and a good time was had by all.

Linda June Campbell and her parents attended the fair in Memphis last Friday.

Treva Lou Terrell and Magdalene Spence spent Wednesday night with Pansy Nanne.

Happy birthday to, Guy Frank, Betty Watson and Shirley Hath-cock, who celebrated birthdays this week.

Betty Reed attended the fair in Memphis Saturday.

Calling all outdoorsmen
—By JIM MITCHELL

You hear a lot of talk these days about game birds and animals, habitat restoration, hatchery programs and other campaigns designed to keep America's outdoors productive in good sport. That's well and good. Certainly keeping the nation on its conservation toes is important.

There is one item in good conservation, however, that all too often is overlooked by many outdoorsmen. It is the relationship between the farmer and sportsman. Many of us are inclined to take the farmer for granted; his land is just another place to hunt and it is his job to supply the game.

A recent survey I made among farmers disclosed that unless more sportsmen prove more cooperative, the available hunting territory will be cut drastically. And what good is it to raise or grow a lot of birds or animals if the land to hunt on is all posted. It is unfortunate that a few black sheep in the hunting fraternity can do so much damage that it affects all who enjoy hunting. Here's a story to prove the point. A group of city hunters (probably inexperienced and certainly of the devil-may-care school) drove out from town one day last fall, selected a nice looking farm and immediately started hunting without asking permission of the owner.

ONE OF KENTUCKY'S TRADITIONS

A Moonlight

With this word Kentuckians call to mind a time honored custom... A lawn party on a moonlit summer night. Chairs are set beneath the grape arbor, beside the lilac bush and near the honeysuckle trellis as Kentuckians enjoy a traditional 'Moonlight.'

Yes, and beer is a tradition in Kentucky, too! Like Moonlights, BEER BELONGS in Kentucky. And when refreshments are served at Moonlights Kentuckians frequently enjoy beer, the beverage of moderation.

SAY YES FOR YOU and YOURS

It's you, fellow Kentuckian—it's all of us everyday citizens—who suffer because the state constitution limits public salaries to $5,000 a year.

Because of that limit we can't open our five new tuberculosis hospitals. Doctors with the necessary training and experience can't be had for $5,000. And so Kentuckians will die and others will sicken, and you and yours and all your kinsfolk and friends will have to run the risk of infection.

Because of the limit, our hospitals for people ill in mind are kept to a care-taker basis. The help that would make useful citizens out of thousands now in custody can't be hired at the 1891 level of pay.

Because of the limit, our whole school system suffers. Who wants to enter a state profession in which the highest officer can earn only $5,000?

Because of the limit, our colleges and our university suffer, too. They lose men and women to out-of-state institutions. They lose men and women to industry. They feel insecure.

Because of the limit, our public-health program throughout the state is badly crippled, and is being crippled more and more day by day.

Because of the limit the farmer is poorer. Agricultural specialists, research men, conductors of experiments—these aren't attracted to a state that offers them no future. If attracted, they don't stay. The men we do have remain in their positions only out of great devotion to their institutions and their state.

Because of the limit we can't develop and operate our park and recreational system so as to give healthful enjoyment to our own people or so as to attract tourists and get the tourists' dollars.

Because of the limit our highway program is faltering and expensive. We have to engage on a part-time or job basis—at far more than a $5,000 annual rate—the experts without whose help we just can't proceed.

Because of the limit every service of state itself is limited. Every one is made needlessly expensive in terms of performance.

What we're saying is: Because of the limit, you suffer. You pay. But you don't get full service for your tax dollar. You get a partial, unsatisfactory, expensive, pinch-penny service. And it's your fault, and ours, and every citizen's. It's our fault because we haven't seen earlier that we'd have to remove the constitutional barrier to progress.

At the election November 8 you'll have an opportunity to make a better Kentucky—a better Kentucky for you and yours—by voting for Constitutional Amendment No. 2. It will make possible an adjustment of official salaries. And it will help mightily to cure our ills.

If you want to know more about the working effects of the salary limit, fill out the coupon below. We'll send you, without charge, a booklet that tells the full story. It's honest, it's factual, it's informative.

Why Do They Want to Put A&P Out of Business?

The answer is to be found in the formal complaint "they" have filed with the court. By "they" we mean, of course, the anti-trust lawyers from Washington who are out to destroy A&P.

They say . . . and these are the anti-trust lawyers' own words . . . that we "have regularly undersold competing retailers."

To this charge we plead guilty:

We confess that for the past 90 years we have constantly stepped up the efficiency of our operations in order to give our customers more and more good food for their money.

The American people have seen nothing wrong in this. By their ever-increasing patronage for 90 years they have shown that they like this low-price policy.

Apparently the people still see nothing wrong in this today. All during the past week — since the anti-trust lawyers made their charges — we have been deluged with phone calls and letters from men and women in all walks of life who want us to know they are opposed to this effort to put A&P out of business.

An enormous number of customers are telling our store managers and clerks that they want to continue to enjoy our low prices for quality foods.

Farmers and other suppliers are asking what they can do to preserve this efficient outlet for their products.

Our 110,000 employees are asking us to protect their jobs and pensions.

Labor leaders are wiring us their opposition to this threat to labor's living standards.

If all these people will be hurt, why then do the anti-trust lawyers want to put A&P out of business?

Low Prices Don't Hurt Anyone

The anti-trust lawyers say because we are able to sell food cheaper than other grocers, we make it impossible for those grocers to compete with us.

If this were true, we should have all the food business in the United States by this time.

Just the opposite is true. In 1933 we had 11.6 per cent of the nation's food business. Now, according to the anti-trust lawyers, our share has decreased to 6.4 per cent in 1948. Anyone can see we have nothing even approaching a monopoly.

As a matter of fact, there are about 30,000 more individual grocers in business today than there were ten years ago.

There are about 275 more food chains in business today than there were ten years ago.

In other words, we have more competitors in the food field and do a smaller share of the nation's food business than before.

Where is this alleged destruction of other grocers? Where is there any evidence of their inability to compete with us?

Do You Want Higher Prices?

As anyone can see, the only purpose that would be served by putting A&P out of business would be to raise food prices.

Who would this benefit?

We were the first merchants to set the pattern for low-cost, low-profit distribution. Our example and our competition has led other grocers to keep their prices down.

Remove A&P from the picture and food prices are bound to go up.

Remove A&P from the picture and the way will be cleared for the destruction of every other efficient large-scale distributor.

Is this what the American people want?

Is this in the public interest?

Mississippi Plantation Life:
The Writings Of Mattie Dear

I thank the Lord Jesus my health is fine. Well, I went to the Azion M.B.C. pastored by the Rev. D. Steven and enjoyed the nice service.

Mrs. A. T. McLaughlan sponsored a baby contest, raised the some of $172.90. If you want any thing to go over top you turn it over to women, mens is good in their place but are hardly ever in it, but I love them because God made them for women.

I'm so glad to write an article in the Fulton County News paper for the first time in life. The Lord is a good God in time of need.

A few words about the crops here. The Lord has bless me with a good crop. I am picking on my fifth bale of cotton. In some places here the boll weavers has eat them up. But all you has to do is to put your trust in Jesus. He sure will take care of you.

I hope some day that I will stop off in Fulton, Ky. I was through there in March. Mrs. Johanna is a fine woman but let me tell you one thing its prayer time. It takes earnest prayers to bring things out alright so I will say. Be of good cheer God is in the Plan. Here is a poem the subject is "Pride."

I understand that I am a Negro. My face is black that's true, From the dust God made us all, So I know he made me, too.

God made man in his own image, And gave him the Bread of Life; While he slept God took a rib, And made for him a wife.

Men are often capable of greater things than they perform. They are sent into the world with bills of credit, and seldom draw to their full extent.—Walpole.

As the soil, however rich it may be, cannot be productive without culture, so the mind without cultivation can never produce good fruit.—Seneca.

The block of granite which was an obstacle in the pathway of the weak, becomes a stepping-stone in the pathway of the strong.—Thomas Carlyle.

Write Patricia Latane to Solve Your Problems

Miss Latane:

I always read your letters and really do enjoy them. I believe you have helped lots of young girls to find happiness. I also think it's swell of The News to publish them.

Mrs. Latane, I have written before but you haven't ever answered my letters. Guess you think I am not worth fooling with, of which is about right but I wish just this once you would answer. I think you will hit me hard as I will deserve but maybe you will also help me to get straight and find happiness.

I have done everything that a woman should not do. I have been untrue to my husband in every way. I know that's a terrible thing for a mother of five children to say but if it isn't too late to change I would like to change. Does my husband care anything for me now or did he ever?

There was a boy that I used to go with that was crazy about me. Does he still care for me or not? I have been thinking of him a lot lately. Would it do any good to see him or is he happy? Can you tell me where he is?

Mrs. Latane, will I ever have any happiness? I married when I was still a kid and I don't love my husband and I am not happy. In fact I am so miserable that I have thought lots of times of ending my life but then I wonder what would become of my babies. I love my children but is there anyone I could ever find peace with, with the children. I would like to have someone that would love me and the children and someone we could love in return. Tell me how to start to find this.

There's B.M. who has been married and has two children. I have never met him. Would you advise me to meet him or not? Would I like him? I rather start a friendship with someone that has been married and also has children.

Can you give me some advice or am I hopeless. I think I am hopeless.

Thanks

P.C.

Dear P. C.:

No, I don't think you are hopeless but I will say if I was a married woman I would be one. If I was going to be a flirt about town I'd quit my husband and be one. I certainly wouldn't live with him and be running around with every Dick and Harry in town and if you love your children as you say you do, you would be so busy keeping their clothes and teaching them good manners, right from wrong, etc., that you would not have time to think about another man. You would be satisfied with your husband. What is wrong with you is your husband is too good to you, if he came in and whipped you 2 or 3 times a week I wouldn't blame him. I would tell him you deserved it, for the way you were doing him. As for the boy you used to go with yes he was crazy about getting out on parties with you but as for love no, it was far from it. As for B. M. leave him alone, stay where you are, you have a good husband he loves you and he loves the children. Its you who are wrong and remember that little children remember better than older ones. You wouldn't want an ugly memory of you on their minds. Take hold of yourself. Clean up your house and take care of your children and you won't have time to think of these men. As for your taking your own life you won't I will assure you of that. Try my advice for one month and if you don't feel better write me again. But first try as hard to make a go of your marriage as you are trying to break it up.

Dear Miss Latane

Quite by chance I was introduced to your column by a friend of mine and now I should like your opinion.

During the war I worked in a civilian capacity for the Army. My immediate supervisor was also a civilian—a very nice man some years older than me.

I had several dates with him before my marriage and after my marriage he became one of my husband's better friends.

However, I have seen him several times in the past five years, all in the open—luncheon, the early theater.

I would like to know what definite place this man has in my life.

A.E.W.

Dear A.E.W.:

This man has a love for you that so few people ever receive. You and this man someday will be man and wife and you will be happier than you ever realized you could be.

Don't misunderstand, he will
